

Which Book Am I In?

Your first grade class is making two different books. The pictures that you will put in the first book are labeled "Book One." The pictures that you will put in the second book are labeled "Book Two." The animals in each book have something in common. You will be given an extra picture. Glue it in the book where there are animals like it.

Book One

goat

moose

seal

Book Two

sea star

salmon

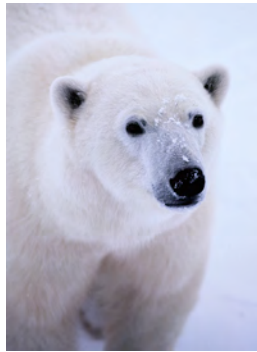

toad

crab

Extra Pictures for Classification

Directions for the Teacher: Choose one animal to give to students as the extra picture for them to place in a book. The bear will clearly go into the book with animals that have fur. The whales and porcupine will go into the book with animals that have fur (or hair), but this might not be readily apparent. The sea gull would go into the group of animals without fur, and could provoke some interesting discussion and rationale.
